Three out of four films since 1999 have featured smoking, so it's easy to guess that a majority of the films listed here do, too. The challenge is, which ones? Hint: The MPAA ratings are no help.

How did you score? 1-10 correct answers: You may not recall smoking in movies, but the research shows it recruits half of all new adolescent smokers. 11-20 correct answers: Got about half right? You'd do as well flipping a coin. 21-30 correct answers: Perhaps the only people who ever kept closer track of smoking in films were the product placement agencies hired by the cigarette companies.

In the future, this quiz should be easy: just keep smoking out of G, PG and PG-13 movies. That's the answer from the American Public Health Association, National School Boards Association, New York State Department of Health, and New York State PTA—the latest additions to our growing list of state-level, national and international endorsers.
